More Rains Visit Didsbury District

Old Jupiter Pluvius, the rainy weather man, has evidently decided not to pass this district up any longer and sent us another splendid rain on Saturday night although a very high wind accompanied it.

This rain with what fell a few days previous has done a wonderful amount of good and prospects look better than they have done for months past. The feed situation will be entirely relieved in this district and grazing is now a great deal better.

If this should happen to be a late fall, similar to some that we have seen here, these late rains mean a lot to the dairy farmer and stock raisers.

Another fine rain commenced in this district late on Tuesday afternoon accompanied by a severe electrical storm. The rain kept up all night and as we go to press on Wednesday it is still raining. Fine for the feed situation.

Wheat Board Given Up For This Year

According to a statement issued by Premiers Greenfield and Dunning made on Tuesday the formation of the wheat board to handle this year's wheat has been abandoned. The difficulty has been to secure the right men as chairman and vice-chairman of the board and the opposition of the grain trade to the wheat board.

Hays & Co., Carstairs, Offer High Grade Dairy Stock

In this week's issue commences a series of advertisements which will be published by the well known firm of Hays and Co., of Carstairs, offering some of their fine high grade cattle.

This firm started to build up their herd in 1911 when they purchased their first purchased Holstein bull, and since that time nothing but purchased Holstein sires have been used that were considerably above the average not only in breeding but for type as well. From 1911 to 1920 they culled from their dairy herd over 500 head, always keeping the best producers and on that account they believe they are in a position to extend to those who wish better service than can be secured elsewhere.

Nearly all our dairy farmers have had their cows tested for tuberculosis and consequently want to keep their herds free from this disease now. Hays and Co. state that from the first in 1911 they tested their own cows, but since April, 1921, this work has been under Federal supervision and during that time 1200 tests have been made and they had only one reactor and that was a purchased cow that had been purchased. In comparing testing records with the reports of the Testing Associations of Canada and the U. S. they find that they are much above the average and are equalled by few, of course these tests do not include their R. O. P. tests.

Messrs Hays states that they are in a position to offer from time to time cows and heifers that will enable purchasers to realize more for the feed they eat, more rent for the space they occupy and more for their labor. If you want any of these animals you should go and see them as soon as possible as they are ready to part with them at once.

Death of Two Great Men

Last week's news reported the death of Arthur Griffiths, the great Irish leader and patriot, after a short illness. Death came very suddenly after an operation.

The sudden death of Mr. Griffith has caused consternation amongst well wishers of the Irish cause, but Michael Collins states that he will carry on the great work commenced by his friend and colleague—a free and united Ireland.

Caught With The Goods

BIG STILL PLANT IS DISCOVERED BY REVENUE
OFFICERS

Screened by the trees along the Lone Pine Creek in the Acme district, a moonshine still was raided by the inland revenue and provincial police officers over the week-end and two full plants were seized along with 100 gallons of liquor. Nestling away in a most picturesque spot on the bank of the stream and shaded by tall trees, which were in turn reinforced on the sides of the plant by timber which had been cut down by the gang, the still has operated for some time past but the authorities had failed to locate it. Reports had been received that large consignments of moonshine liquor had been manufactured somewhere in the Acme district, but not until Sunday was the source of supply discovered.

A Hard Task

Jack Nettleton was caught in charge of the operations, but it was only after extreme difficulty that the police squad succeeded in unearthing the layout. They had scoured the district for several days previous, working cautiously day and night and finally their efforts were rewarded. Detectives Bohay and O'Neil, of the provincial force, accompanied the revenue officers. Nettleton was convicted and fined $300 and costs on the charge under the Inland Revenue Act.

Besides the seizure of the 100 gallons of liquor which was stored away in kegs in a dugout close to the sheltered tent, which covered the still, the officers secured a large quantity of mash suitable for the manufacture of high-class beverage. This was all ready to use and the still was in operation when the force launched their raid.

A Wet Search

In a drenching rainstorm the officers had scouted in the area on the previous night and although they were within 20 yards of the place they failed to detect it. However, the gang returned to the same scene the following day and caught Nettleton red-handed.

Continuing their clue in this connection, the squad then raided the home grounds of P. Neufeldt, and found three kegs of moonshine buried in his garden. A jar of the beverage was also discovered on his premises. The kegs were covered over with a thin layer of clay and screened by tall vegetable growths. The liquor seized at his place is being tested before further action is taken.—Calgary Herald.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

Issued in 1917 and Maturing 1st December, 1922.

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

- Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.
- Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmaturing coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15th.

There seems to be a deadlock existing as to who will take the chairmanship of the wheat board, Mr. Stewart has definitely decided that he will not take it and within the last few days Mr. H. W. Wood has also refused the position. These two men are the logical men for the job and since neither one will accept the outlook for the success of the wheat board is smaller than ever. No matter who accepts the position of chairman they will not have the confidence of the farmer to the extent that these men have. To give the wheat board a fair chance it looks as though the best way out would be to postpone its coming into operation for another season and then get an early start on organization for the next crop. The present uncertainty of how the grain is to be marketed this year is causing a stagnation in Canadian marketing conditions that may perhaps be a great detriment to the western farmer and this matter should be settled without further delay.

The attention of the holders of the five and a half per cent. war loan bonds maturing December 1, 1922, is directed to the offer of the Minister of Finance to renew the loan on favourable terms. The last Canadian loan was placed in New York at a satisfactory price. The Minister is making his present financial operation entirely a domestic one by offering to exchange the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, running for either five or ten years as the bondholder may prefer. A further inducement to the investor is that he receives a bonus of one month's interest. The terms offered are decidedly favourable to the investor and it is probable that a large part of the maturing loan will be renewed. Arrangements for the exchange of the bonds can be made at any branch of the chartered banks. Holders who do not wish to reinvest will be paid in cash on the 1st of December.

A new edition of the Northern Alberta Land Map just issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior shows the location of all Dominion lands available for entry. A new feature added to the current issue gives similar information regarding these quarter sections of privately owned unoccupied and uncultivated lands that are for sale.

With the two classes of information now available in map form the prospective settler will have a guide to opportunities for either homesteading or purchasing. If favourable to the latter plan of settlement, lists containing names and addresses of owners of unoccupied farms in any particular district throughout the province may be obtained in addition to the map, upon application to the Department. These lists contain information regarding the price at which the owner would be willing to sell or lease his land, terms of payment that would prove acceptable, acreage suitable for cultivation, nature of soil, value of buildings and distance from a railway.

GIVE US THE NEWS

We presume there never was a newspaper in any locality that gave all the local happenings, it is often that some one comes or goes that the reporter has not seen. It happens that the family is missed several times. They get the impression that the editor does not care to mention them. This is a mistake. In most country towns the local work is the hardest work connected with a newspaper.

Harvest is becoming general in all parts of the province. The south country still report good crops and harvesting is now in full sway.

XI. Winnipeg.

July 24th, 19—

Mr. Brown called just as I was completing my last entry. And he has been here almost every day since. At first I was a trifle uneasy, for I was not at all sure that he would know how to act; one never can tell what these unconventional Canadians are going to do. But he is really very good and kind, and his unconventional-ity is not of the embarrassing sort. He usually comes laden with magazines and chocolate, and twice he has called with a note and asked Mary and me for a spin around the city.

Next week a party of us are going to visit the Agricultural College. A friend of Mary's who is attending the Normal School is here. Each teacher is required to take a month's course in Agriculture and Domestic Science before she is granted her certificate. I should prefer to see the college when the regular classes are in session, but even this, Teachers' Course will be interesting. I am sure, and I shall at least see the buildings and grounds. Mr. Brown is to be of the party, so the five-stock is sure to be properly introduced.

And in ten days I again leave Winnipeg. I am almost excited, and wonder, for my destination is the Bingham ranch. It is luck or fate, or Providence, I wonder.

Sunny, bless her heart, opened the subject. "Neither," she said one day after an unusually long silence, "why can't Miss Elliot come home with us?" "Miss Elliot would not like to go far away from her friends, dear," Mrs. Bingham replied. "Perhaps she and Mary can come out next summer, and we'll have a house-party for them and give them a really good time. It would be too quiet and lonely for her at the ranch now."

Then she turned to me. "I am dreading the winter, myself," she said. "My husband and Sunny and I always take a house in Carlton City for the winter months, but this year my doctor wants me to stay at the ranch and live outside as much as possible. I have not been very well, and he does not think that I shall get enough fresh air and sunshine in the town."

"You should try to find a companion," suggested Mrs. Arnold. "I did think of sending to England for Jack's sister," Mrs. Bingham continued, "but I know she would simply die of homesickness. Then I thought of advertising for someone, but I don't care to be shut up for six months with a professional companion. So I have no plans made as yet."

"Mrs. Bingham, I began excitedly, "could I, would you let me—oh, I'd just love to go to Alberta if you'll only have me?" "And I'd let you ride my very own horse," broke in Sunny, "and we could play we were Indians, and I know David would love you. Please let her come, Mother," she coaxed. "I could wish for nothing better," said Mrs. Bingham, "but hadn't you other plans?"

Then I told her what had been the object of my visit to Canada, and how that object had changed in part, and finally it was decided that I should go home with her—to stay as long as we were both satisfied.

I went down to the Hudson's Bay Stores early the next morning and was measured for a riding habit. I think I shall like Mrs. Bingham very much indeed. She is a Canadian, a Winnipegger, and is not more than thirty. Mr. Bingham—who is coming down to go home with us—is English, six years older than his wife, and also very nice—Mary is my au tho rity.

The ranch is twenty miles from Carbon City, and Carbon City is a hundred miles from Nowhere, and there are no neighbours nearer than thirty miles. But this seeming disadvantage is quite overbalanced by the fact that the mountains are visible—there would be for neighbours under such circumstances?

"There is an Indian Reserve just across the river from the house, so I shall have an opportunity to study 'the only genuine Canadiana'."

"I almost forgot a very important bit of news," Mr. Harford was in the city one day last week and called on Mrs. Bingham. I suggested Mrs. Fiske gave him the address.

And that reminds me that I have had a long letter from Gypsy. She tells me that they all miss me—and that Jennie has "set up a young man" already. I was slow.

XII.

Winnipeg.

July 19th, 19—

It is a good thing that I have my diary to confide in, for I am awfully worried. I would give anything to know how to talk with Father for an hour, and as it is I do not feel free even to write to him myself.

To come to the point at once, I have received a proposal from Jerry Brown of Brownville. It is so quite evident that in this matter, as well as in many others, Mary was right and I was wrong.

The catastrophe occurred after our visit to the Agricultural College. When we had inspected everything of interest there, we all went out to Asimboine Park and had tea at the pavilion. Afterwards the party broke up into groups of two or three, and I found myself strolling down a wooded path—quite classical setting—with Mr. Brown.

"Rather a neat signboard, that," he remarked, pointing towards a notice just before us.

I followed the direction of his finger, and read this warning, which in large letters flaunted itself in the faces of the unsuspecting public:

"LADIES' LANE."

"No Heavy Traffic Allowed."

"I wonder what the hell is!" I asked. "Since then for the women and eleven for the men, would be a fair one, I think."

"Let me see," Mr. Brown calculated, "that would be a hundred and twenty-six and a hundred and fifty-four pounds, wouldn't it? Why don't you English people drop those tea-stones and do your weighing in an up-to-date style?"

"That is just how I feel about your Canadian money," I retorted.

He smiled as one will smile at a child. "If you just mention your objections to the folks at Ottawa, I'm sure they're sure what they could do for you," he suggested.

If there is anything that makes me perfectly wild it is to be spoken to in that way!

"I suppose you'll not go quite this time," he continued.

"No," I snapped. "If I did I'd begin to starve myself."

"And I'm a little more than eleven," he went on mildly. "So he should strike a pretty fair average."

What was the man coming to? I soon found out.

"This park is pretty enough in its way, but it looks pretty small to me after being used to Kensington," he said. "I've got the dirtiest little lake on my place, about a hundred yards from the house, that would make that there boy one inch, like a cupful of water to a thirsty ox." (To be continued.)

What the Glass Contained

Counsel's perseverance is not always successful in eliciting the desired answer. "Was there anything in the glass?" asked the counsel of a somewhat reluctant witness. "Well, there was something in it," he replied. "Ah, I thought we should get at it in time," observed counsel. "Now, no good fellow, tell us what that 'something' was?" The good fellow took time to think over it; at last he drew it out: "It was a spoon!"

Miller's Worm Powders are a pleasant medicine for worm-infested children, and they will take it without objection. When directions are followed it will not injure the most delicate child, as there is nothing of an injurious nature in its composition. They will speedily rid a child of worms and restore the health of the little sufferer whose vitality has become depressed by the attacks of these internal pests.

Measuring Electricity

Method Is Same As Used in Measuring Water

The language of the electrician is Greek to most people. While he talks glibly of volts and amperes and watts, they know only that they have to pay an electric light bill for so many units, and let it go at that.

Though electricity is not a fluid, most of its terms can be compared with water flowing through a pipe. Turn a stream of water into the path of a waterwheel, the work that the wheel will do depends upon two things—the amount of water delivered every second and the pressure of the stream. The first is measured in gallons and the second in pounds.

In the case of electricity, however, the rate at which it flows is measured in amperes and its pressure in volts. The work which it will do is found by multiplying amperes and volts together, which gives the answer in watts, or units of energy.

The unit is this watt, often called a kilowatt, which is the electrical equivalent of one horsepower.

You will find the number of watts that a lamp consumes on most electric lamps, and count this up on the cover what they will cost to use. A 25-watt lamp will use one unit of 1000 watts in forty hours burning.

The ohm is another electrical instrument which can be understood by a comparison with water. Water flows easily through a large pipe, but if the pipe is narrow, only a small quantity can force its way through. What the pipe is to water, the wire is to electricity. The smaller the wire, the more difficult electricity will find it to pass, because the fine wire resists its flow. Wires are measured by their resistance in ohms.

A Martial Obligation

"I mind that biscuits are fine!" exclaimed the young husband. "However could you say those were fine biscuits?" whispered his mother as the fair bride went to get more from the kitchen.

"I didn't say they were fine, much?" replied the young man. "I merely said I must say so."

YOUR STARVED NERVES

The Cause of Neuritis—Must be Treated Through the Blood

Neuritis is the cry of the nerves for more and better blood. It means that the nerves are being starved. Like every other part of the body, the nerves are being starved. I have taken nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. There is here no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will prove beneficial even in extreme cases of neuritis. These pills increase and enrich the blood supply, carrying to the nerves the elements they need, thus driving away the sharp, torturing pains which nearly drive the sufferer wild. The benefit given by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind is shown by the case of Miss Curtis V. Fletcher, Ray, Quebec, Ont., who says:—As the result of a severe working I got into a faint storm. I was attacked with neuritis, from which I suffered greatly, and which kept me awake night after night. Although the pain diminished somewhat, I began to get on in other ways. My appetite was poor; I got thin and had no energy. Indeed I was becoming a wreck of my former self. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am more than glad that I followed the advice, for they have restored me to my old-time strength. I cannot recommend the pills too highly, and hope other persons in poor health will give them a fair trial.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, post-paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Suffered So Her Hair Turned Gray

Husband of Winnipeg Woman Tells About Her Terrible Experience

"I never would have believed any medicine could bring about such a change as Tanlac has done in my wife," said Harry Gray, of 124 Duane St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

"How many years she suffered from stomach trouble and biliousness, which, of late, were so chronic that she had to go to bed for two or three days at a time. She got to be very thin and as weak as a child. She had such terrible headaches and suffered so dreadfully that though still a young woman, her hair turned gray."

"But the way Tanlac helped her is remarkable. She has gained fifteen pounds and is the picture of health. Tanlac is the finest medicine in the world."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Canadian Dollar Almost at Par

New York, August 15—The premium on Canadian exchange yesterday was reduced to 7-32 of 1 per cent. an extreme low record. The high point was 19 1-4 per cent. reached in December, 1920.

The approach to par is attributed to the purchase of Canadian securities in the U. S., the grain movement and a general reduction of Canadian imports over exports.

Comm. Berscht, chairman of the Board of Public Works, has had Railway street, thoroughly graded which has made a great improvement. Sports For Fair Day

After several meetings by the business men of the town it has finally been decided that a few sports should be held on Fair day at the Exhibition. A good program of horse races, athletic events and baseball games has been arranged by the committee in charge. The delay in announcing these sports has been caused by the uncertainty as to financing because of the extreme stringency in money matters that now prevails but the generosity of the merchants in providing some of the funds has overcome the difficulty.

The Agricultural Society is not allowed by the government, which gives a grant to the Society, to allow any money to be expended for this purpose consequently the funds have to be raised voluntarily.
